Product Description

Pad eye plates are available in a number of shapes and configurations, including these square pad eyes, which have 2 fixing points, and an integral swivelling eye attachment loop. Pad eyes are also referred to as a deck plates, mooring plates, fairleads and eye plates. Padeyes are often use as attachment points for staysails, reefing blocks, mounting and mast foot blocks, but also for just about anything that needs an attachment point, like a hanging basket.

Square Pad Eyes are available in three size variations: the dimensions for each are outlined in Table 1 below.

These padeyes are a stamped version, not cast.
